Crime Stoppers Month January 2010

On behalf of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, I want to acknowledge January 2010 as Crime Stoppers month and to recognize those who contribute to the success of Crime Stoppers across Canada.

Crime Stoppers collects tips from the public on community safety issues and passes them on to police for appropriate action. In doing so, Crime Stoppers and its local, provincial, national and international associations offer significant help to Canada's police officers in combating criminal activity.

This year, Crime Stoppers has once again selected Helping to Stop, Solve and Prevent Crime Together as their theme. The RCMP is committed to combating crime and playing a key role in the partnership between the community, media and police.

In Canada, there are Crime Stoppers programs in every province and territory, more than 100 programs providing Crime Stoppers coverage to over 4,000 Canadian communities.

Tips received from Crime Stoppers have helped the RCMP and many other law enforcement agencies solve outstanding crimes. Crime Stoppers is to be congratulated on the collection and communication of information resulting in more than 175,000 arrests, the clearing over 236,000 cases, the seizure of more than 2.5 billion dollars in illicit drugs, and the recovery of more than 424 million dollars in stolen property since Crime Stoppers began in Canada in 1982.

We recognize and praise the efforts of the many people who volunteer countless hours to making Crime Stoppers such a successful program. On behalf of the RCMP, I would like to convey our appreciation and thanks to Crime Stoppers during this special month. The RCMP looks forward to even greater successes in the future.
